To Whom It May Concern:

Randall Munson recently presented to our Allied health Staff in Radiology at the Mayo Clinic. Our people were delighted to learn how to effectively use humor in medicine, thoroughly enjoy themselves and earn Continuing Education Credits all at the same time.

Randall was able to get us energized as we laughed together and learned how continue to enjoy ourselves and our roles in Radiology as we all work together. He taught us the importance of looking for humor in everyday life so we can keep our perspective and sanity under stress. This was a great morale boost to all of us.

Randall Munson got us engaged and the audience looked forward to more as the time flew by. Even those participating via video feed from across the country were totally engaged.

Randall was especially effective because he conducted thorough research before the presentation so he that he understood our culture, activities and environment and also the issues that matter most to us. Then he carefully crafted his presentation and personalized it specifically for us and even shared “inside” humor with us. Randall showed us how to apply his inspiring insights in our own environment.

He did a great job and delivered exactly what we wanted. I highly recommend Randall Munson to other Health Care institutions who are looking for an exceptional speaker.

Sincerely,
